Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I'm writing to complain that a significant piece of the proposed Microsoft settlement does nothing but further the Microsoft Monopoly. As I understand it, one piece of the settlement is that microsoft will donate a bunch of software to schools. Schools have long been one of the strongest domains of Microsofts only commercial competitor Apple Computer. This donation would only serve to increase Microsoft's Monopoly, and further jeopardize consumers feadom of choice.

I believe this settlement should be declined. Microsoft has once again gained the upper hand and will only benefit. The settlement should be made in order to change their behavior, this does nothing to address their behavior and will not change it in the future, allowing them to continue to bilk the public.
